OUR STUDENTS STAND OUT

"I was given the opportunity to focus on three primary areas of Feed the Children's operations: public policy, business development, and grant-based fundraising. My primary interests lie in the intersection of the private and public sector, specifically using sustainable and innovative business practices to create a more habitable, equitable earth."

—SONAK KOLAR, KSAS '20

Double major: International Studies and Economics

Recent experience: Government and International Relations Intern at Feed the Children

"Sonak was among the best interns we've had. [He] just jumped right in and got it done quickly and effectively." —ANDREW MCNAMEE

Manager of Public Policy

INDUSTRY-BASED CAREER ACADEMIES

Each of our six academies has an employer relations and student career development staffer dedicated to connecting students with top companies and industry-specific knowledge. Employers provide professional business insights and connections, and better connect with target students.

OUR INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS

JHU also offers specialized internship programs to help build business in Baltimore, and connect alumni and JHU parents to the JHU community. Ask your employer lead to become a part of one of these programs.

INBALTIMORE This funded internship program helps local businesses find well-prepared, supported interns from Johns Hopkins who are committed to working in Baltimore and for Baltimore.

ALUMNI INTERNSHIP CONNECTION (AIC) Students value connections and expertise from former Blue Jays. As an alumnus, you can offer internships from your company, champion, and engage with students.

PARENTS INTERNSHIP NETWORK (PIN) Parent-sponsored internships give students a special opportunity to build their network, as parents are further along and better connected in their careers. Built in tandem with the Parents Program.
