What is It Like to Live at Hopkins?

Living in a new community can present many obstacles to the freshman. While moving in you will probably worry about finding your way around campus, where your room is, and even which dining hall to choose. To help make your transition into college easier, Johns Hopkins offers the Campus Housing Commitment program members.

The majority of our juniors and seniors live in several of the buildings that surround the Homewood Campus. This includes our common core buildings as well as several others. There are advantages and unique features that make student life in these communities quite enjoyable.

Finding a roommate

Roommates are assigned through the Campus Housing Commitment program. The process involves providing your phone number, email address, gender, and major, as well as showing an interest in having a roommate. The Office of Student Housing then creates roommate matches to meet your criteria. Once you are matched you can choose to meet your roommate or accept the roommate that was assigned to you. You may also have the option to select your own roommate through the online roommate matching tool.

Off-Campus Housing Database

The Office of Student Housing offers an online database that includes a roommate bulletin for those organizing roommate searches.

Where to Eat?

Fresh Food Café (FFC), Nolan’s and at Charles Street Market for our Meals-in-a-Minute program..

Dining for Off-Campus Students

Although we are unable to offer off-campus students meal plans, there are still a few options to consider. Off-campus students have the option of eating at lessons in such as The Academy on Charles, Grant Court, Blue Jay Off-Campus Housing or Blue Jay Off-Campus Housing.

Which Meal Plan is for Me?

Meal plans for 2021-2022 semester are available on our website or within your own transfer student cohort. With many of the commercial properties, we will have several dining locations available on a regular basis.
